

REPP Data Protection Policy

Protecting Personal Data

REPP is committed to keeping your personal data secure. Under the General Data Protection Regulation¹ ("the Regulation") REPP acts as the controller of your personal data and has an obligation to process your personal data in a lawful, transparent and fair manner.² Where you provide us personal data of any individual other than yourself, you undertake that this information is provided with the consent (for collection, use and disclosure) of such individual and you will inform them of this Policy.

Information We May Collect

In fulfilling its mandate to support small scale renewable energy projects in sub-Saharan Africa REPP may collect certain information in relation to you. Examples of the information we may collect include: your name, telephone number, email address, date of birth, business profile/history, professional qualifications, education details and/or employment details. In addition, we may collect information on you in the fulfilment of certain legal obligations (for example anti-money laundering legislation). Examples of the information we may collect in this manner include: your home address or a copy of your passport. We will try to avoid collecting sensitive data, but this may be necessary on occasions (such as determination of PEPs) and if so we will ensure that such sensitive data is protected in accordance with the Regulation.

On What Basis Do We Collect Your Personal Data?

The basis on which we collect, store, use, disclose and/or destroy ("process") your personal data include the following lawful grounds:

- Your consent;
- Processing is necessary for compliance with our legal obligations; and/or
- Processing is necessary for implementing the terms of any contract between REPP and any entity that you represent and/or control.

Where Do We Keep Your Personal Data?

We are committed to the security of your data and it is accessed on a "need to know" basis. All third parties that process or store data on our behalf have entered data processing agreements designed to keep your data safe. Due to the geographic focus of REPP your data may be transferred outside the European Economic Area ("EEA") and may be processed by staff of the REPP Manager based outside the EEA. We will take all reasonable steps to ensure your personal data is treated securely.

¹ Retained EU Regulation 2016/679 as it forms part of the law of England and Wales, Scotland and Northern Ireland by virtue of section 3 of the European Union (Withdrawal) Act 2018 (United Kingdom General Data Protection Regulation).
